CROWDFINDERS

Who'll be in the Zoo on the 28th June?

TICKETS

At Crowdfinders' we love innovation, technology and solving problems that need to be solved! Like how to raise the right kind of money and how to uncover the most awe-inspiring scale-up businesses...

However, in the digital age there's now more reason than ever to strike a balance! In the same way that the World's leading online retailer is scrambling to infiltrate the bricks and mortar, experience-led retail world, entrepreneurs and investors benefit from the efficiencies of digital communication and online investment, yet they positively thrive in a face to face environment, particularly if it's all wrapped up in fun, engaging and highly entertaining surroundings!

This week we have not one but TWO sensational events to invite you to.

Firstly, on Thursday 24th May, we have the Great British Private Investor Summit – the must attend event for all things related to early-stage funding. Book Now with 10% off (further details below).

Then, if you'd like to be in the 'Room' at London Zoo then join us on the 28th June, and maybe bring a colleague too...!

Book Now with our amazing 'bring a colleague' for free ticket deal.

Who's Who in the Zoo...? Oxford Capital, that's Who!

OXFORD CAPITAL

Hear what one of our sponsors, Oxford Capital has to say...

Venture capital investments into early-stage technology companies have been at the heart of our business since 1999. Our experienced London-based Ventures team back entrepreneurs who are aiming to solve big problems in innovative ways. We look for ambitious entrepreneurs who are building companies in sectors where the UK leads the world. Online marketplaces, fintech, the future of mobility, digital health, machine learning and artificial intelligence are all areas of current interest. Most investments are EIS qualifying.

As well as the opportunity to subscribe to our Growth EIS, we also offer private investors the opportunity to invest directly, alongside our funds, by joining our Co-Investor Circle. Through the Co-Investor Circle, individuals and family offices can access investments in privately-owned companies that would usually only be open to institutional investors – on the same institutional terms as Oxford Capital.

Co-Investor Circle members have so far invested over £55m in more than 30 companies.

Each co-investment opportunity offered to our members has been through Oxford Capital's investment selection process, due diligence and investment committee approval. Typically we also seek to represent investors' interests through board seat representation. After investment, along with regular reporting, members benefit from our strategic planning and operational value-add to the investee companies which helps to manage investment risk and enhance value.

Our selection. Our due diligence. Our expertise.
Your investment. Your peace of mind. Your returns.
